 First International Trip — Key Reminder: Apply for Japan Tourist Visa at the Embassy of Japan at least 4–6 weeks before travel. Purchase Travel Insurance covering all 4 family members (including infant) with minimum USD 50,000 medical coverage. Carry sufficient JPY cash — Japan is still largely a cash-first country. Book Tokyo Disneyland tickets online well in advance to avoid sellout.

1. Trip Overview & Essential Pre-Trip Information

Why Japan for a First International Trip?

Japan is one of the safest, cleanest and most family-friendly destinations in the world — an ideal first international trip. Trains run on the minute, hospitals are world-class, baby facilities exist in almost every public space, and the Japanese people are exceptionally kind and helpful to families with young children.

Key Japan Facts for First-Time Visitors

- Safety: Japan is consistently ranked one of the world’s safest countries. Crime rate is extremely low.

- Cleanliness: Streets, toilets, trains and restaurants are impeccably clean — perfect for a 7-month baby.
  - Baby-Friendliness: Multi-functional nursing rooms (■ ■ ■ ■, jyunyushitsu) are available in shopping malls, train stations, department stores and major attractions — always with diaper-changing tables, nursing chairs and a sink.
  - Cash Culture: Japan is still largely a cash society. Carry ¥10,000–¥20,000 in cash daily. You can withdraw from 7-Eleven and Japan Post ATMs using international Visa/Mastercard.
  - Tap Water: 100% safe to drink and use for mixing baby formula.
  - Electricity: 100V, Type A plugs (same as USA). Carry a universal adapter.
  - SIM / Internet: Buy a tourist data SIM at the airport (IIJmio, Rakuten, or B-Mobile) or rent a pocket Wi-Fi at arrival. Approximately ¥3,000–¥5,000 (~■1,650–■2,750) for 5 days.

3. Flight & Airport Guide

Recommended Flight Routes (India → Tokyo)

From Major Indian Cities to Tokyo (Narita NRT or Haneda HND):

| From City       | Airline Options                             | Duration                            | Approx. Round-Trip Cost (Per Adult) |
|-----------------|---------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| Delhi (DEL)     | Air India, ANA, JAL, IndiGo+connection      | ~8–9 hrs direct / 11–13 hrs 1-stop  | ■55,000–■90,000                     |
| Mumbai (BOM)    | Air India, JAL, ANA, Singapore Airlines     | ~9–10 hrs direct / 12–14 hrs 1-stop | ■50,000–■85,000                     |
| Chennai (MAA)   | Air India, Singapore Airlines, Thai Airways | 10–13 hrs (1-stop)                  | ■45,000–■75,000                     |
| Bangalore (BLR) | Air Asia, IndiGo+JAL, Singapore Airlines    | 10–14 hrs (1-stop)                  | ■40,000–■70,000                     |

Budget Tips: - Book 3–4 months in advance for best fares. - Travel in shoulder season (September–November, or late January–February) for lowest airfares. - Infant (under 2 years): Travels free on lap (no seat) on most airlines on international flights. A small infant fare (10–15% of adult fare) may be charged. Confirm with your airline. - Request a bassinet seat (bulkhead row) when booking for the 7-month infant — especially important for a 9+ hour flight. Call the airline directly after booking. - Child aged 7: Full economy ticket required. - Pack a baby carrier / soft structured carrier for the flight and sightseeing.

Tokyo Airports — Which One to Use?

| Airport              | Code | Distance to Central Tokyo      | Best For                                   |
|----------------------|------|--------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|
| Narita International | NRT  | ~60–80 km / 50–90 min by train | Most international flights; larger airport |
| Haneda International | HND  | ~15–25 km / 25–45 min by train | More convenient; closer to Tokyo           |

Recommendation for families: Haneda (HND) is preferred — closer, easier navigation, shorter transfer time (important with a baby). However, most budget airlines land at Narita.

Airport to Hotel Transfer Options

From Narita Airport (NRT):

| Option                | Duration                   | Cost (Adult)                                                     | Baby/Child Notes                                           |
|-----------------------|----------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------|
| Narita Express (N'EX) | ~60 min to Shinjuku        | ¥3,070 (~ ■ 1,690)                                  | IC card or JR pass; luggage storage available              |
| Airport Limousine Bus | ~70–90 min to major hotels | ¥3,200 (~ ■ 1,760)                                  | Baby on lap free; pre-book on website                      |
| Private Taxi / Uber   | ~90–120 min                | ¥25,000–¥40,000 (~ ■ 13,750– ■ 22,000) | Safest for family with baby; car seat available on request |

From Haneda Airport (HND):

| Option                         | Duration                | Cost (Adult)                                                 | Baby/Child Notes                  |
|--------------------------------|-------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| Tokyo Monorail + Yamanote Line | ~30–45 min              | ¥700–¥800 (~ ■ 385– ■ 440)         | Budget-friendly; can be crowded   |
| Keikyu Line                    | ~30–40 min to Shinagawa | ¥620 (~ ■ 341)                                  | Good option with luggage          |
| Private Taxi / Uber            | ~30–45 min              | ¥6,000–¥9,000 (~ ■ 3,300– ■ 4,950) | Recommended with baby and luggage |

Pro Tip: At Narita and Haneda airports, you can rent a stroller right at the airport exit (coin-deposit type). Also available: luggage forwarding service (takkyubin / ■■■■■) — send your heavy luggage directly to the hotel for ¥1,500–¥2,500 per bag.

4. Accommodation Recommendations

What to Look for in a Family Hotel in Tokyo

- Family Rooms (4-person beds/triple rooms) — essential since a double room is too small for 4 people
- Baby crib / cot on request — most mid-range and premium hotels offer this free
- Baby amenity kit — good hotels provide baby bath, baby shampoo, bibs, stroller rental
- Location — stay near a major metro line (Shinjuku, Shibuya, Ueno, Asakusa zones)
- Convenience stores nearby — 7-Eleven and FamilyMart sell baby formula, diapers, ready meals 24/7

Recommended Hotels — Family-Friendly Options

Budget to Mid-Range (■8,000–■16,000/night for family room):

| Hotel                         | Area     | Family Room Cost/Night                | Why Recommended                                                  |

7. Day 3 — Tokyo Disneyland (Full Day)

The Highlight of Your Trip!

Tokyo Disneyland is widely considered the world's best Disneyland — it is cleaner, more organised and more magical than any other Disney park globally. For your 7-year-old, this will be an unforgettable experience.

Important: Tokyo Disneyland and Tokyo DisneySea are operated by Oriental Land Company (OLC), not Disney US. Tickets must be booked online in advance — walk-up purchase is possible but can lead to sellouts on peak days.

Getting to Tokyo Disneyland

| Option                          | From                            | Duration   | Cost per Adult                    |
|---------------------------------|---------------------------------|------------|-----------------------------------|
| JR Keiyo Line or Musashino Line | Tokyo Station → Maihama Station | ~15 min    | ¥230 (~■127)                      |
| Taxi / Uber                     | Asakusa area                    | ~45–60 min | ¥5,000–¥8,000(~■2,750–■4,400) |

Maihama Station is the gateway station. Tokyo Disneyland Resort is a 5-minute walk or free Disney Resort Line monorail ride from there.

Tokyo Disneyland — 2024/2025 Ticket Prices

| Guest Type | Age   | Day Passport (1 Day)                | Cost (INR)    |
|------------|-------|-------------------------------------|---------------|
| Adult      | 18+   | ¥9,400 (~weekday) – ¥10,900 (~peak) | ■5,170–■5,995 |
| Junior     | 12–17 | ¥8,300 (~weekday) – ¥9,800 (~peak)  | ■4,565–■5,390 |
| Child      | 4–11  | ¥5,600 (~weekday) – ¥6,500 (~peak)  | ■3,080–■3,575 |
| Infant     | 0–3   | FREE                                | ■0            |

For your family (2 Adults + 1 Child aged 7 + 1 Infant aged 7 months): - 2 Adults × ¥9,400 = ¥18,800 - 1 Child × ¥5,600 = ¥5,600 - 1 Infant = FREE - Total Disneyland Tickets: ¥24,400 (~■13,420)

How to Buy Tickets

1. Tokyo Disney Resort Official Website: tokyodisneyresort.jp (select English)
2. KKday / Klook / Voyagin (third-party booking platforms — often have INR pricing and Indian payment gateway support)
3. Purchase dates: Open 90 days in advance — buy early for preferred date!

Baby Notes — Day 4

- teamLab Planets requires walking barefoot through water installations (~10 cm deep). The 7-month baby should be carried in a baby carrier (not pram). The staff will help — inform them on arrival.
- Shibuya Scramble can be overwhelming — keep baby in carrier or pram; use the pedestrian crossing before 6 PM to avoid extreme crowds.
- Baby facilities available at all major malls in Odaiba and Shibuya department stores.

Tokyo Metro Day Pass

If you plan heavy metro use (3+ trips per day), consider:

| Pass                     | Price                    | Best For                             |
|--------------------------|--------------------------|--------------------------------------|
| Tokyo Metro 24-Hour Pass | ¥600 adult, ¥300 child   | Day of heavy metro travel            |
| Tokyo Metro 72-Hour Pass | ¥1,500 adult, ¥750 child | 3 days of frequent metro use         |
| JR Tokyo Wide Pass       | ¥15,000 adult            | Day trips to Nikko, Kamakura, Hakone |

Getting Around with a Pram / Stroller

- All major Tokyo Metro and JR stations have elevators (look for blue elevator signs)

- Priority seating sections on trains — most Japanese people will happily give up seats
- Pram-friendly routes: Use the Ginza, Hibiya or Yamanote lines — wider carriages
- Tokyo Bus system also accommodates prams — use the middle door

Taxis & Uber

- Taxis in Tokyo are clean, safe and drivers are professional
  - No tipping in Japan — taxis or restaurants
  - Uber works in Tokyo and accepts international credit cards
  - For family with infant + luggage: request a Minivan/Van option on Uber

12. Baby & Child Travel Tips for Japan

For the 7-Month Infant

| Topic                 | Tip                                                                                                                  |
|-----------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Baby carrier          | Bring an ergonomic carrier (Ergobaby, BabyBjörn) — essential for teamLab, crowded temple walks, stairs               |
| Pram / Stroller       | A lightweight foldable stroller is ideal; Tokyo pavements are smooth and pram-friendly                               |
| Diapers               | Pampers, Merries and Moony brands widely available in Japan — often better quality than Indian versions!             |
| Formula               | Carry 5–7 days supply from India; Japanese formula is available but different brands                                 |
| Baby food             | Kewpie brand Japanese baby food (stage 1 and 2) is safe and excellent; available at Matsumoto Kiyoshi pharmacy       |
| Nursing rooms         | Every shopping mall, department store, Disneyland, major station has a private nursing room ( iyunyuushitsu ) |
| Hot water for formula | Available free at convenience stores — just ask counter staff to provide warm water                                  |
| Baby bath             | Hotels provide baby bath on request; or use the hotel bathtub with warm water                                        |
| Sleep                 | Bring baby's sleeping bag for consistent sleep environment in hotel                                                  |
| Jet lag               | 3.5 hours ahead of IST — relatively manageable; start adjusting sleep 2 days before departure                        |

For the 7-Year-Old Child

| Topic         | Tip                                                                                                       |
|---------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Passport      | Ensure child's passport is valid for at least 6 months beyond return date                                 |
| Height check  | Measure child's height before Disneyland visit — most exciting rides require 102 cm                       |
| Entertainment | Carry a tablet with downloaded shows for long flights; buy Disney merchandise as motivation               |
| Food          | Japanese food is generally mild and non-spicy; ramen, udon, sushi and fried chicken are popular with kids |
| Safety        | Teach child to memorise hotel name (show them hotel card with address in Japanese)                        |
| Activity kit  | Small backpack with colouring book, snacks, earphones — essential for flights and transit                 |
| Pokemon/Anime | If child likes anime, visit the Pokémon Center in Tokyo Station — a paradise for kids!             |

Budget Optimization Tips

- Book flights 3–4 months in advance and travel mid-week (Tuesday/Wednesday) for lowest fares.
  - Use Booking.com or Agoda for hotel deals; or book directly through hotel websites for best rates.
  - Use IC cards instead of single-journey tickets to save 5–10% on metro fares.
  - Eat at convenience stores and ramen shops for 1–2 meals daily — excellent quality at ¥500–¥800 per person.
  - Buy Disneyland tickets online (KKday/Klook in INR) — no extra currency conversion loss.
  - Avoid taxi except for baby-critical situations — Tokyo trains are safe, punctual and far cheaper.
  - Buy duty-free at Narita/Haneda for cosmetics, chocolates and Japanese whisky.
  - Look for family discounts: Many Tokyo attractions offer 2+1 family passes or free child entry under 6.
